

Let's Talk About the Humanities

Moshoula Capous-Desyllas is currently Professor of Sociology at California State University, Northridge. Her research interests and passions involve the use of arts-based research methodologies as a form of activism for social justice and as a way to highlight the voices of marginalized individuals, groups & communities.

Queer Lens in Focus: A Photovoice Project in Athens, Greece

March 2, 2022 at 1 PM ET

with Moshoula Capous-Desyllas, California State University, Northridge

This webinar is based on an ethnographic, arts-based research project conducted in Athens, Greece, where professor Moshoula Capous-Desyllas, collaborated with a grassroots collective known for its advocacy for and with LGBTQ+ refugees and asylum seekers. Moshoula Capous-Desyllas will discuss the methodological process, challenges and successes of engaging in arts-based research with marginalized communities, as well as the impact and power of co-curating national and international photography exhibits as a way to share the participants' art and knowledge with audiences beyond academia.

REGISTER NOW

RUTGERS
Graduate School of Education

SAMUEL DEWITT
PROCTOR INSTITUTE
for Leadership, Equity, & Justice

Center for MSIs